

Dear graduates,

All of the hours, all of the late nights and early mornings, all of the sacrifices you made over the past few years have led you here. To this day, this stage, this moment. This ceremony represents the culmination of each of the individual decisions you made – day in and day out – to keep reaching for your goals.

But today is more than a closing of a chapter. Today represents continual growth in your chosen craft. Today honors the life-changing insights you've gained by engaging in dialogue with others of differing viewpoints. Today knows that you will be empowered by your confidence, and today knows you are only limited by your wildest dreams. It is because you are here, and because again and again you made the choice to reach higher, and because you know that today is just the beginning.

May today's celebration be not of what's behind you, but of the incredible potential ahead. May today you toast to the challenges you'll face head-on; To the problems you will solve; To the opportunities you'll have to make life better, to change the world.

May you continue to embrace every challenge that comes your way. May your growth never cease. May your journey take you all over the world, and may you always find a way back to USF.

Congratulations, and GO BULLS!

114TH COMMENCEMENT CONVOCATION

SPRING BACCALAUAREATE COMMENCEMENT | FRIDAY, MAY 4 AND SATURDAY, MAY 5, 2018

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH FLORIDA SYSTEM

Founded in 1956, the University of South Florida is a multicampus system comprising three separately accredited institutions, USF, USF St. Petersburg, and USF Sarasota-Manatee. The USF System has an annual budget of $1.8 billion, an annual economic impact of $4.4 billion and offers 232 degree programs at the undergraduate, graduate, specialist and doctoral levels, including the doctor of medicine. Serving nearly 48,000 students, USF is large and diverse with students from every state and nearly 160 different countries. More than 30 percent are African American, Hispanic, Asian American, Native American and other races and ethnicities.

USF is the doctoral granting, research intensive member of the USF System and it includes the main campus in Tampa, its College of Marine Science in St. Petersburg and USF Health. USF is ranked 25th in the nation for research expenditures, among public U.S. universities and is also one of only 25 public research universities nationwide with very high research activity that is designated as community engaged by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

USF St. Petersburg offers master's level and undergraduate programs in the arts and sciences, business and education within a student-centered environment. The first regional institution in the USF System with independent accreditation, USFSP distinguishes itself by its urban waterfront location in downtown St. Petersburg and its focus on undergraduate research, civic engagement and small classes. Most faculty members hold the highest degree in their field and teach courses from the freshman to graduate level. USFSP retains its separate identity and mission while contributing to and benefiting from the associations, cooperation, and shared resources of a premier national research university.

USF Sarasota-Manatee is the second regional institution in the USF System to earn an independent accreditation. USFSM strives to be a hometown, comprehensive university with ever-increasing national and global impact. The USF Sarasota-Manatee campus is located on U.S. 41 near Sarasota Bay, the Powell Crosley Mansion, the John & Mable Ringling Museum of Art, and the Sarasota-Bradenton Airport. USFSM offers over forty bachelor's degree, master's degree and certificate programs in four colleges: Arts & Sciences, Business, Education, and Hospitality and Technology Leadership. USFSM provides students with individualized attention from nationally and internationally recognized faculty while capitalizing on the resources of a major public research university.

The USF System member institutions span the Tampa Bay region; however, true to their differentiated missions, the member institutions collectively provide educational services across the state of Florida and beyond.

The University of South Florida is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award degrees at the baccalaureate, master's, specialist and doctoral levels, including the Doctor of Medicine. Events, activities, programs and facilities of the University of South Florida are available to all without regard to race, color, marital status, gender, sexual orientation, religion, national origin, disability, age, Vietnam or disabled veteran status as provided by law and in accordance with the University's respect for personal dignity.

THE SYMBOLS OF LEARNING

Modern academic regalia evolved from the kinds of apparel worn by monks and students in the 11th and 12th centuries to keep warm in the medieval castles and halls in which they studied. Academic life as we know it today began in the Middle Ages — first in the church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the Guild of the Master of Arts, and the Bachelor was the apprentice of the Master. Their dress was the outward sign of stature and responsibility. Academic regalia was thus a visible manifestation — in color, pattern and design — that unified those of common discipline and like purpose. In later centuries, to preserve the regalia's dignity and meaning, universities set rules of academic dress. American universities agreed on a definite system in 1895, establishing a code of approved attire. In 1932, the American Council on Education revised this code, which, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today. The principal features of academic dress are three: the gown, the cap and the hood.

THE GOWN — The gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it completely covers any dress of rank or social standing. The sleeves of the gown indicate the level of the degree held by the wearer. A long, pointed sleeve indicates the bachelor's degree. The master's gown has an oblong sleeve cut in an arc, with a slit at either the upper arm or wrist. The USF doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves and three black bars on the sleeve. The doctoral robe also has the seal of the university on the velvet facing.

THE CAP — The freed slave in ancient Rome won the privilege of wearing a cap, and so the academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as a square symbolizing the book, although other authorities claim that it is a mortar board, the symbol of the masons, a privileged guild. The color of the tassel on the cap denotes the discipline. The tassels on the caps (mortar boards) worn by the faculty may be black or a color indicating the degree. Those who hold a doctoral degree may wear a gold tassel. It is traditional for degree candidates to wear their tassels on the right and for those holding degrees to wear them on the left. Graduates transfer their tassels to the left after conferring of the degrees by the President.

THE MACE — The USF Mace, used during all Commencement ceremonies, is a ceremonial staff similar to those used by many institutions of higher learning to show the right of academic institutions to grant degrees to graduates. The USF mace is used during all Commencement ceremonies and is carried by the President of the Faculty Senate. Our mace includes a gold pine cone at its top to represent growth and continuity. Eight silver semicircles, which support the pine cone, stand for the eight colleges in existence at USF when the mace was commissioned in 1998. When not in use, today's mace is displayed in the foyer of the President's office. The original university mace is on display in the Alumni Center.

THE MEDALLION — The medallions worn by candidates for the bachelor's degree identify those graduating with honors. The black hood of a bachelor's candidate indicates a student who has earned the Honors College degree.

THE SASH — The golden-colored sash is made available to students who are members of university honors societies. The sash is embroidered with the university seal and the student's honors society. International students may choose to wear a special sash honoring their home country. The colors of their sash reflect the colors of their native flags.

THE HOOD — The hoods are lined with the official colors of the institution conferring the degree. They are edged and bound with velvet of the color appropriate for the degree. At USF, the lining of the hood is green with a gold chevron, representing the university's colors.

THE COLORS — In regalia, academic disciplines are noted by color. These colors can be found on undergraduate and masters tassels and on master and doctorate hoods on the velvet edging.

VICTOR POIRIER

HONORARY DOCTOR OF ENGINEERING

Victor Poirier is an internationally recognized pioneer in the design, development and leadership in obtaining regulatory approval and commercialization of the most widely used artificial heart technology. He developed the first Food and Drug Administration-approved implantable ventricular assist devices that take over the pumping function of the heart. As of 2016, more than 35,000 of his life-saving devices were implanted in patients for periods of more than 12 years.

Poirier also addressed the longstanding problem of biocompatible materials by building the device out of titanium, and inventing a way to encourage cells to grow on the pump's surface. He developed 18 U.S. patents from his work, and several more patent applications are currently in process. He was elected to the National Academy of Engineering in 2003, in Bioengineering and Mechanical Engineering, "for the design, development, clinical trial and commercialization of first-generation left-ventricular assist systems for treating heart failure." He became a founding Fellow of the American Institute for Medical and Biological Engineering in 1993.

Poirier's professional journey began at the age of 20 when he became a part-time draftsman for Thermo Cardiosystems. While he pursued a college education, Poirier continues to rise through the ranks of the company, eventually leading the heart pump team. During his career, Poirier has served as CEO and president of Thermo Cardiosystems, chief technology advisor to Thoratec Corporation and assistant professor at Tufts University School of Medicine.

Poirier has close ties to USF. He was one of the inaugural faculty of the USF Institute for Advanced Discovery & Innovation, which was established in 2014. Poirier is a frequent lecturer in a new course on developing innovative thinking in students that launched last year. He also serves as a business mentor on a National Science Foundation grant project led by Dr. Venkat Bhethanabotia, professor and director of USF's Materials Science and Engineering program. Poirier also participated in a focus group during the development of the USF Research Strategic Plan.

DAKOTA BECKER-GREENE

OUTSTANDING GRADUATE

The Outstanding Graduate Award, given each semester by the USF Alumni Association, recognizes a graduating senior who embodies leadership, school spirit, community service, character and scholarship. The spring semester '18 award goes to Dakota Becker-Greene, who graduates with dual degrees: a Bachelor of Science in Biomedical Sciences, and a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology. The recipient of multiple scholarships and a member of the Honors College, he has an overall GPA of 3.81.

In addition to excelling in his academic pursuits, Becker-Greene has taken on leadership roles throughout his USF career. He has held various positions within Housing and Residential Education, including serving as Governor of Castor Hall and as a Resident Assistant, mentoring 44 freshmen residents. During his junior year, Becker-Greene was selected as Castor Hall's Residence Life Mentor.

He also has held multiple positions with the USF Pre-Medical American Medical Student Association, including serving for the past year as president. His responsibilities included creating new initiatives and collaborating with other student organizations to increase research, physician shadowing, leadership and community service opportunities for the association's 800-plus members. He also worked with Shriners' Children's Hospital, Moffitt Cancer Center, American Cancer Society and other community organizations to raise awareness and funds for cancer research.

Participation in research also has been a priority for Becker-Greene. He co-founded and has served as co-president of the Undergraduate Research Society at USF since September 2016. The organization allows students from diverse research backgrounds the opportunity to collaborate and learn from one another in a transdisciplinary setting. Also, since August 2017, Becker-Greene served as an OUR Peer Facilitator in the Office for Undergraduate Research, mentoring and advising prospective and current undergraduate researchers.

He served as an Undergraduate Research Assistant beginning in August 2015 in Professor Bill Baker's chemistry laboratory, and he was a clinical research assistant on a Tampa General Hospital project examining certain blood cancers. His work in these laboratories led to eight paper and poster presentations at scientific conferences.

Among his honors, Becker-Greene has been a member of the highly selective Dean's Student Leadership Society in the College of Arts and Sciences, including serving as Events Chair from April 2016 to May 2017; served as a USF Ambassador for 2017-2018; and he was inducted into the Order of the Golden Brahman.

He plans to pursue a research assistant position at the Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, MA, focusing on cardiovascular translational research.
