

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN

The University of South Florida's Technology Transfer Office provides a unique opportunity for talented USF graduate students who are working toward a degree in Life Sciences, Engineering, Business or Law to receive real-world experience in managing and assessing the commercial potential of research and innovative ideas to bring research from the laboratory to the marketplace for public benefit.

Interns in this program will:

- Perform intellectual property evaluations
- Conduct market analysis for new technologies
- Develop marketing materials
- Identify potential licensees
- Complete license agreement comparisons

This program is a paid internship and requires a one-year commitment of approximately 20 hours per week on site at USF's Technology Transfer Office.
